Central Vietnam List and Map A assumes abandoning regional boundary.

South Vietnam list assumes provinces cannot be grouped across regional boundary. If this holds, report fails to say what then should happen to the southern parts of Darlac, Dong Nai Thuong, and Binh Thuan provinces.

The map and the only relevant list disagree, though each is consistent within itself.

It seems doubtful that a 3-province area and a 5-province area are equally desirable.
