Dear President Hannah:

I am enclosing a copy of a memorandum from Art Brandstatter to me concerning the hiring of police administration people for the Vietnam project.

I thought you would be interested in the magnitude of the effort and the vigor with which it was carried out.

Sincerely,

Subject _____

I thought you might be interested in learning that a total of 404 people applied for the police phase of the Vietnam Project during the recent recruitment period. The greatest number of responses were from the following states: California, Michigan, New York, Oregon, Texas, and Washington.

I, personally, interviewed approximately 100 people on the West Coast, East Coast, and in East Lansing in order to make a final selection. The people who were hired were from the following states: California, Maryland, Michigan, New York, Oregon, Virginia, Washington, and Washington, D. C.

Perhaps you would like to show this to President Hannah so that he may have a better understanding of the amount of work involved in hiring these people.
